Lesson ideas!

Creating a poster can be a great way to communicate an idea or concept. When presenting a lesson, you might want to create a poster about a certain topic, to show to your students, and use as a learning material.

Asking students to create posters about a certain topic can also be an exciting performance task. Since great posters have concise text that are well chosen, and often has relevant images and illustrations, it takes a lot of reflection and creativity to come up with a good one! This is a great way to check on students' understanding and share their insights.
